INTRODUCTION

The Department of Government Services provides services to all departments, agencies, boards, commissions, Crown corporations and the Legislature. In addition, the department deals with the private sector in matters of contracting, leasing and property maintenance.

The services the department provides include:

- operating as the government's "landlord", providing requirements for accommodation, property maintenance and security related support services;
- developing and maintaining government data processing systems and related computer services;
- developing creative information programs for public and internal use by other departments;
- operating the Provincial Government Bookstore and Public Enquiry Service;
- maintaining a stationery stockroom for all departments of government;
- gathering and distributing government mail, interdepartmental messages, parcels and other goods;
- supervising and coordinating government telecommunication services;
- disposing of surplus Crown property;
- acquiring furnishings, equipment and other supplies required by departments;
- retaining and managing government records and disposing of redundant material as necessary;
- administering government-wide insurance programs;
- administering provincial furniture and office equipment inventory.

The department is structured into five divisions:

—Policy and Planning;

—Construction and Accommodation;

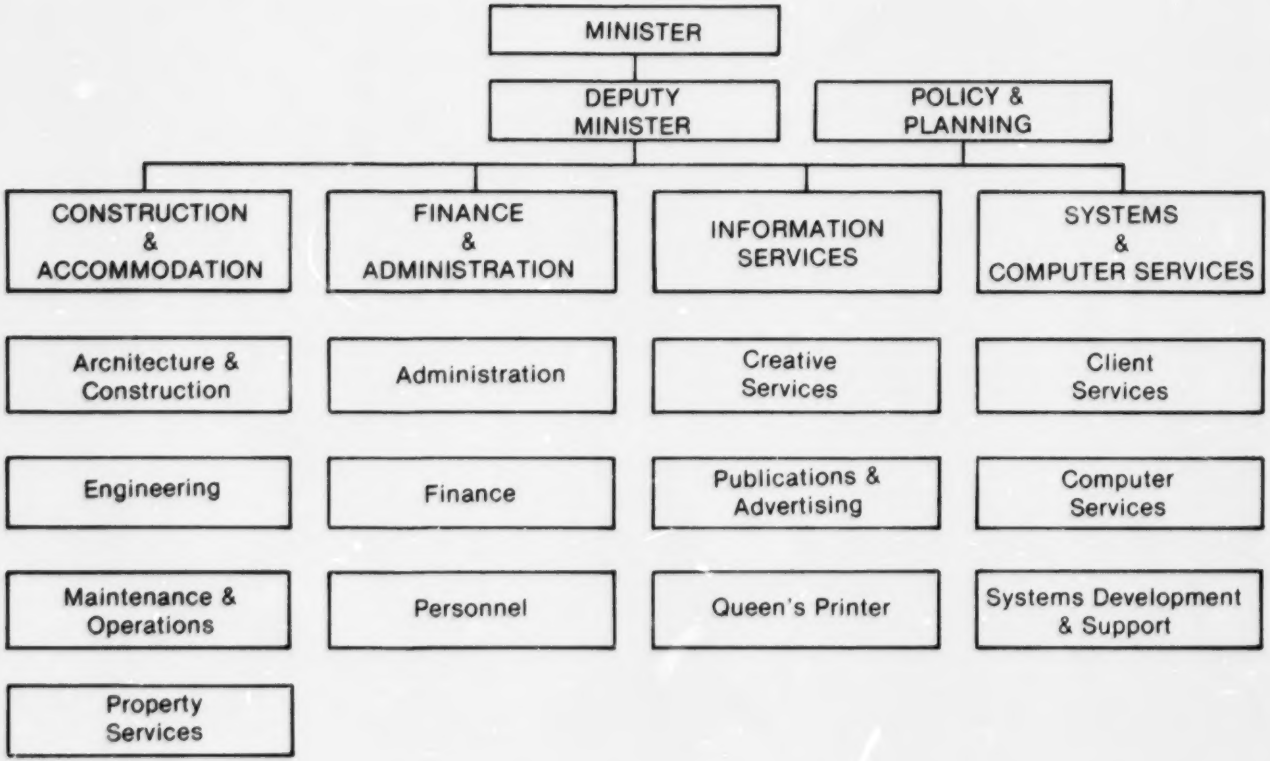
—Finance and Administration;

—Information Services;

—Systems and Computer Services.

Departmental activities during the year are delineated in greater detail in subsequent sections of this annual report.

ORGANIZATIONAL CHART



POLICY AND PLANNING DIVISION

This division assists the Minister and Deputy Minister of the department in establishing and implementing departmental policies and fulfilling long-range planning strategies.

FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION DIVISION

In addition to providing everyday internal support to the department, the Finance and Administration Division continues to administer particular common services for most other departments and agencies of government. These services include public liability and related insurance coverage.

This division works in concert with the other divisions of the department in an effort to ensure a coordinated administrative approach to consistent budget control of expenditures. During the fiscal year, the division actively reviewed micro computer applications for various accounting functions to enhance these operations.

INFORMATION SERVICES DIVISION

The Information Services Division comprises Publishing and Advertising, Creative Services and Queen's Printer.

This division provides all government departments and agencies with primary and ancillary services including advertising, graphic art, photography and film, public enquiries, printing services, writing, editing, and distribution of news releases and feature articles, press clippings, audio services, slide show production, exhibits and displays and a Government Bookstore operation.

A total of 1,874 news releases and advisories to editors were distributed during the year by Telex, TWX and mail. Media Services, in conjunction with Audio Services, provided winter road reports and reports on forest fire hazards, produce and livestock markets, ski resort and beach conditions.

In the Public Enquiries unit, 10,859 enquiries (written and "walk-in") were answered. Public Enquiries also provided updates on Nova Scotia for several national and international reference publications.

The Press Clipping Service provided 66,487 clippings from local and national publications to 26 government departments.

The Queen's Printer produced a combined total of 32,101,582 impressions during the year.

Photographic staff completed assignments for media, promotional projects and security I.D.s, including 480 photo assignments over the year and 722 photo requests.

The Advertising Section handled approximately 2,000 advertising orders and placements for all media (radio, television, billboards, transit and print) averaging 40 per week.

The Film Unit was involved in three major information and training films, television commercials, seven special television and film projects and slide shows, as well as providing stock footage to national and international television networks.

Art and Design handled 1,106 assignments. Audio Services distributed 136 "billboards" to electronic media containing more than 300 voice "actualities". In addition, the unit was responsible for producing soundtracks for slide shows, providing dubs of news cuts and media conference feeds, producing radio commercials and public service announcements.

Seven original slide shows were written and produced during the year. Specialized writing was provided for advertisements and features. Sixty-one exhibits and displays were handled for exhibitions, departmental and window display usage.

CONSTRUCTION AND ACCOMMODATION

The Construction and Accommodation Division is involved with the design and construction of all new government buildings; the renovation, alteration and repair of existing buildings; and the provision of office accommodation in leased or owned premises to all departments of government. The division is also responsible for the disposal of surplus Crown property and procurement of telecommunications requirements for various government departments.

The division undertakes design projects with its own staff and also engages architectural or engineering consultants from the private sector to carry out the design work while still supervising the project. The actual construction work is normally carried out under contract to the private sector. However, a work force is maintained to carry out minor repairs and alterations and maintenance to various government buildings throughout the province.

During the fiscal year ended March 31, 1984, the Construction and Accommodation Division was engaged at various stages in several new construction and major renovation projects. During the fiscal year the following projects were completed: the District Office Building, MacLellans Brook, for the Department of Lands & Forests; the Retail Liquor Store in New Germany; Vehicle Storage Garages in Ingonish and Wentworth, for the Department of Transportation; and the Ambulatory Care & Oncology Centre and the Atlantic Provinces Resource Centre for the Visually Impaired, both in Halifax. A program of installation of fire alarm systems and fire protection systems was instituted in various Children's Training Centres throughout the province for the Department of Social Services and in the Nova Scotia Hospital in Dartmouth for the Department of Health.

Projects started during this period or continued from the previous year included: the addition to the Cox Institute and the Colchester Museum, both in Truro, for the Department of Education; the Machinery Storage Garage in Beechville and the Traffic Control Facility in Miller Lake for the Department of Transportation; work on the hospital in Glace Bay, the Abbie Lane Hospital in Halifax, Northside General Hospital in Sydney, and the installation of the Emergency Power Generation System for the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax, all for the Department of Health.

Also, during this period, the department became directly responsible for the design and construction of public schools throughout the province. In this regard, designs were completed and tenders awarded for school projects in the following communities: Glace Bay, Cole Harbour, Beaverbank, St. Peters, Middle Musquodoboit, River John, Port Williams and Falmouth.

The Systems and Computer Services Division (SCS) provides computer system development and support services to government through its Client Services and Systems Development and Support sections. The division's Computer Services Section operates the provincial government's shared-use computer and micrographics centres.

The division is also responsible for the specification and acquisition of computer-related software and hardware, including microcomputers and word processors.

The division undertook 148 projects during the year, involving both software development and equipment acquisitions. Private sector consulting firms supplemented systems development activities and nine development contracts in seven departments were awarded.

Computer services and equipment were acquired on six occasions through public tendering. These included text processing systems for the Department of the Attorney General and the Department of Education Adult Vocational Training Centres, as well as instructional computer equipment for various regional vocational schools.

Fifty invitational tenders for computer terminals, microcomputers, word processors, and computer-related services were issued on behalf of 19 government departments.

Access control software for use on the Provincial Data Centre mainframe computers was evaluated and acquired during the year. This software was installed to address concerns relative to unauthorized computer infiltration via remote terminals. The product selected, in addition to controlling terminal access, also restricts access to data files to authorized users of that data, as determined by user departments.

Due to growing concerns over central site computing capacity, a capacity planning study was undertaken in the fall of 1983. The results of this study were utilized to develop a multi-year plan for computing requirements to service the needs of major government departments.

In conjunction with Management Board personnel, SCS staff participated in the development of a government policy for the "Acquisition, Development and Use of Data Processing and Office Automation Facilities." This policy was accepted by Management Board and will be promulgated in 1984-85. In the interim, an EDP Advisory Committee of Management Board has been established to monitor and control the acquisition and implementation of automated systems.
